10-14-03	Read and analyzed article:Sexual Harassment; Article Outline:Introduction,Prevalence, Effects,Laws Against Sexual Harassment;Supreme Court Opinions; Freedom of Speech Issues; Attitudes Towards Sexual Harassment ;preliminary review of article and its sections	0.5
10-14-03	Analysis of relevant section:In the WorkPlace;analysis of article's definition of Title VII and its purpose; Title VII prohibits sex discrimination by an employer with respect to compensation, terms, conditions or privileges of employment; analyzed guidelines of EEOC developed to enforce Title VII;examined guidelines:(unwelcome sexual advances,(2)request for sexual favors(3) verbal or physical sexual conduct under three (3) conditions (1) sub- mission to or rejection of such conduct is used as a basis for employment decisions, or (3)the conduct has the pur- pose or effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual's work performance or creating an intimidating, hostile, or offensive working environment; analyzed the facts of this this case in light of the US Supreme Court's interpretation of these guidelines.	1.5
10-14-03	Examined "key element"; wheher behavior is unwanted by the recipient; key element is "unwelcomed by the recipient."	0.25
10-14-03	Read and analyzed section:Supreme Court Opinions:history of U.S Supreme Court opinions in sexual harassment cases began in the mid-1980's; first cases defined sexual harassment; more recent cases defined the party liable or legally responsible;analysis of Meritor Savings Bank v Vinson; analyzed historical significance of Meritor; Meritor was first case to recognize as unlawful both types of harassment defined by EEOC guidelines:(1)harassment involng a coercive tradeoff;(2) harassment that creates a hostile or intimidating environment;examined the facts of this case and applied the elements of (2); examined the unanimous conclusion-both types (1) and (2) were action- able under Title VII; Meritor acknowledged that victims of such harassment could sue their employer for monetary damages	1.5
10-14-03	Examined the facts of Meritor; female employee was invited dinner and to a motel by vice-president of bank; initially she refused, in fear of her job she finally agreed; vice-president made sexual demands during business and non-business hours; they had sex 40 to 50 times over the next few years; Lower court found relationship voluntary, sexual relationship unrelated to continued employment; US Supreme Court overruled; held employee might be able to show that actions of supervisor created hostile and intimidating environment; created analysis of how hostile and intimidating environment became inextricably intertwined with sexual harassment.	1.5

10-15-03	Analyzed the differences between the trial court in Meritor, EEOC guidelines and US Supreme Court reasoning; trial court focused on: whether employee suffered tangible economic loss; US Supreme Court relied on EEOC guidelines regarding hostile work environment; analyzed Court's comparison of sexual harassment to racial discrimination; analyzed language: "sexual harassment which creates a hostile or offensive environment for members of one sex is every bit the arbitrary barrier to sexual equality at the workplace that racial harassment is to racial equality"; analyzed the shift in emphasis from individual action and economic loss to whether a hostile and offensive environment was created; US Supreme Court established new elements of harassment case.
10-15-03	Examined Court's caution and analysis required; Caution: Behaviors must be sufficiently severe and pervasive so as to "alter the conditions of [the victim's] employment and create an abusive working environment"; Analysis required: Not whether victim's participation was voluntary but whether sexual advances were unwelcome; employees had right to sue even if they did not resist harassment and even if they suffered no loss of tangible benefits; reviewed new legal basis and reasoning for such harassment claims	1.5
10-15-03	Reviewed Harris v Forklift Systems(1993); supervisor sexually harassed employee by creating hostile working environment; analysis of how Harris applied Meritor: male supervisor insulted female employee, made unwelcome sexual innuendos, asked other female employees to remove coins from his front pocket; emphasis on environment, includes experiences of other female employees who were not plaintiffs;	0.75
10-15-03	Compared trial court and US Supreme Court focus in Harris trial court concluded-although some of supervisor's comments offended employee and would offend reasonable woman, they were not severe enough to affect employee psychological well-being, to interfere with her work performance, or to create abusive or intimidating work environment; trial court dismissed case. US Supreme Court reversed. US Supreme court held so long as a reasonable person could perceive the environment to be hostile or abusive, and the victim actually perceives it as such, damage to psychological well-being is not required;	1.5
10-15-03	Analyzed other part of holding in Harris; it stated that conduct need not "seriously affect an employee's psychological well-being or cause employee to suffer injury in order to be actionable under Title VII; examined proper standard stated by court; analyzed "middle path" chosen by court, "between conduct that is merely offensive and conduct that causes tangible psychological injury; analyzed finding of facts made by DALA and PERAC their conclusions support client position that Title VII requirements as stated in Harris were met.	1.5

10-16-03	Analyzed Oncale v Sundowner Offshore Services(1998) for confirmation of Harris holding; US Supreme Court ruled unlawful sexual harassment could occur between members of the same sex; noted no trial in lower court, US Supreme court overruled trial court's automatic dismissal of case; examined Court's reiteration of Harris standard; analysis of standard that requires courts to assess alleged harassment from the perspective of a reasonable person considering all the circumstances; reasonable person standard in Harris replaced standard relied upon by trial court;	1.5
10-16-03	Examined Harris and Oncale for definition for standard to be used to define sexual harassment; the reasonable woman in Harris and the reasonable person in Oncale replaced lower court reliance on "affecting psychological well-being" and interference with "work performance"; separated definition from liability; noted standard for liability still unclear.	0.75
10-16-03	Analysis of Meritor for employer liability; US Supreme Court applied general principles of agency; examined how general agency principles could be applied in cases of sexual harassment; analysis indicated that employees can be liable for certain wrongdoings by supervisory employees such employees are(agents); legal relationship between employer and employee is direct;compared special relationship between employer and employee same as College Town;reviewed Meritor's analysis that lower courts have generally found employers liable for sexual harassment when managers took tangible,job-related action-such as unwarranted termination or demotion; analyzed conflicts among circuits in the application of Meritor & Harris (1)reasonable person (2) limited role of wrongdoing;	1.5
10-16-03	Analysis of US Supreme Court clarification of employer liability when supervisors sexually harass employees by creating hostile work environment; liability even if no specific job related actions are taken against the victims; reviewed Ellerth & Faragher: the Court ruled that employers are potentially liable even if victim did not experience tangible retaliation" or was not denied benefits; compared job-related action" of Meritor & Harris with requirements of Ellerth & Faragher.	1.5
10-16-03	Analyzed the facts of Ellerth; she was female salesperson who had been continually harassed by a male supervisor; she testified that the supervisor touched her inappropriately she also testified that supervisor stated that he could make her life "very hard or very easy" at the company depending on whether she "loosened up" sexually; she did not suffer tangible job detriment for rejecting his advances; court concluded however that she had experienced a hostile work environment; analyzed facts of Faragher: she was female lifeguard; she was subjected to unwanted touching, she was subjected to ongoing and pervasive crude remarks, her supervisor made no specific sexual demands; compared ongoing and crude remarks in the RPD with the hostile environment experienced in Faragher.	1.75

10-17-03	Compared fact patterns of Ellerth & Faragher with facts of client's case; continual harassment, pervasive and crude remarks and a generally hostile work environment are present in all three (3) cases;	0.75
10-17-03	Analyzed holdings and exemptions in holdings and exemptions in holdings; court recognized that supervisory status is a factor, it helps supervisor harass employee; compared the role of the supervisor and the liability of the employer with CollegeTown's concept of "those upon whom authority has been conferred; this liability stands even if supervisor did not use his or her authority to take specific retaliatory actions.	0.75
10-17-03	Analyzed defenses available to employer: (1) showing of reasonable care to prevent and promptly correct; examined client's case for prevention and prompt correction-defense does not apply here; (2) failure to adopt anti-harassment policy and effectively communicate; examined client's case: examined anti-harassment policy adopted 4 years after commencement of client's employment; examined RPD's lack of conferences and efforts to effectively communicate the policy to employees; defense unavailable to RPD, department showed lack of reasonable care; (3) additional defense-employer must demonstrate client unreasonably failed to take advantage of any preventative or corrective opportunities provided by the employer-defense unavailable.	1.5
10-17-03	Reviewed client's MCAD complaint; reviewed her notes from her meeting with the Mayor, reviewed commencement of employment 9-12-95; checked date the anti-harassment adopted; checked for any indication of efforts to communicate anti-harassment policy or other evidence of reasonable care; conclusion-no Ellerth-Faragher defenses available to defendants	0.75
10-17-03	Analyzed Gebser v Lago Vista Independent School District (1998); court used "deliberately indifferent" as the standard for liability in School District case; examined the Gonsalves case and the application of the "deliberately Indifferent" standard; school districts allowed more latitude than other employers but when student is harassed by teacher and official who has authority over teacher has knowledge, the "deliberately indifferent" standard is used to find liability under Title VII; "deliberately indifferent" is the standard also applied in Gonsalves v City of New Bedford; Gebser validates the use of the "deliberately indifferent" standard to establish liability under Title VII.

10-28-03	Reviewed DALA'd finding of facts 3-7-03; reviewed Medical Panel report of 6-13-03 in preparation of pretrial memo for hearing on 12-9-03 at 11:00 am; prepared statement of facts for memo; 1st paragraph stated date of Involuntary Application 7-17-02; date client ended employment 3-14-01; 18 months since filing of Involuntary Application statute and regulations establish 180 days for decision on application; constructive discharge on 3-14-01; paragraph highlights deliberate inaction by RRB and the intentional disregard for the statute and regulations.	0.9
10-28-03	Reviewed prior PreHearing Memo filed by Ira Zaleznik, Esq. counsel for RRB and the defendants prior to the February 4 2003 hearing; reviewed medical report from Dr. Keroack

	after October 23, 2002; reviewed the issue of permanency which was addressed at the February 4, 2003 hearing; reviewed Item 15 on the list of documents counsel for RRB provided to DALA: Addendum Sheet to the Involuntary Retirement Application: Copy of Atty John Collins Treatise on the Chief's Guide to Injured on Duty; examined treatise for compliance with the present state of the law in Mass	1.1
10-28-03	Reviewed client's notes; also reviewed Chief's Application and its acknowledgement of "significant emotional distress" it referenced her diagnosis of PTSD; included in draft of 2nd paragraph the RRB's denial without convening a regional medical panel; reviewed Dr. Keroack's January and February 2003 reports; drafted 2nd paragraph to include the denovo hearing, Dr. Keroack's reports and DALA hearing of 2-4-03.	0.75
10-28-03	Reviewed DALA decision of 3-7-03 and its holding that the threshold criteria had been met for the convening of a Medical panel"; also made procedural note - the RRB did not appeal this decision; also included draft of paragraph 4 that the three (3) doctors of the medical panel convened, held a hearing and reached a unanimous decision; included in paragraph 4 the four conclusions of the panel: (1) client mentally incapable of performing the essential duties of her job; (2) the incapacity is likely to be permanent; (3) incapacity is such as might be the natural and proximate result of emotional injury sustained or hazard undergone on account of which retirement is claimed; and (4) there was no other likely factor in Ms. James clinical history to explain the disability.	1.5
10-28-03	Included in 4th paragraph the conclusion that both the client and the Commission have already provided the RRB with documents and information necessary to render a decision on the Involuntary Application submitted by the Chief; concluded hearing memorandum with two legal facts (1) substantial evidence has been provided that client is unable to return to work at RPD, her condition has lasted for more than one year, she is disabled by PTSD which is job-related; (2) more than 180 days have elapsed since 7-12-02 and RRB has made no decision.	1.5
10-29-03	Review of RRB's request for clarification; examined letter from Ira Zaleznik, Esq. counsel for RRB and the City of Revere; letter addressed to George M. Dominiak, MD 300 Mt Auburn St, Suite 300, Cambridge, MA; letter dated 11-18-03; Caption: Panel Examination of Terri James: Request for Clarification; 1st paragraph confirms that Ira Zaleznik, Esq. represents the RRB on this retirement disability case; letter requests clarification of the medical panel of 6-13-03.	0.5

- 10-29-03 Analyzed second paragraph and attempted to identify the disability issue on which clarification is sought; medical panel concluded that Ms. James' incapacity would be likely to persist for an indefinite period of time, even with continued treatment; issue presented by RRB:whether the nature of her condition itself precludes recovery in a definite period of time or whether the panel's opinion is based upon Ms. James receptiveness or lack of receptiveness to treatment; examined closely the wording of the paragraph and noted that the medical description of the patient's decline is called a "shift" by the RRB; paragraph indicates a misunderstanding of the symptoms of PTSD. 0.95
- 10-29-03 Analyzed third paragraph and attempted to identify the disability issue on which clarification is sought; medical panel report raised the following extraneous issues: Mark James' disability retirement, civil action filed in Superior Court, newspaper report of lawsuit; report noted move to Florida as escape from hostile environment of Revere; analyzed "additional facts": found no criteria in MGLC32 or 840 CMR 10:00 that pertain to disability 0.75
- 10-29-03 Analyzed fourth paragraph and attempted to identify the disability on which clarification is being sought; examined RRB's claim that client's doctor "crossed the line from care-giver to partisan in assessing Ms James' claim"; also examined his final question: Did the panel consider any other sources or critically evaluate whether the history received was accurate?; reviewed 840 CMR 10.10(4): Representation:...employer's physician allowed to be present and may ask questions from medical panel during the decision making process of the panel"; examined the narrative of medical panel; decision does not record the presence of employer's physician; employer's physician had the right (1) to disagree with the findings of the panel; (2) indicate disagreement by signing panel certificate in space provided; and (3) filing written statement with Commission within 10 days following the examination; examined medical panel certificate; examined space provided; found no signature; Commission indicate no evidence of participation by employer physician; evaluated belated concerns expressed in paragraph 4. 1.75
- 10-29-03 Analyzed 5th paragraph: statement "the penal opinion concludes that "there are no other likely causative factors apparent in Ms James clinical history to substantiate an alternate etiology for anxiety disorder"; examined the four questions of this paragraph, noted that employer's physician could have provided appropriate answers: Ques 1: were there any direct linkage established between incidents or series of incidents at work and the disability claimed-both Dr. Keroack's report and the medical panel narrative established the linkage; Ques 2: were there any incidents at work reported that could have raised the level of stress to the extent to produce the gastrointestinal problems reported in 1998-Dr . Keroack, MGH records and the medical panel narrative directly address this question; Ques 3: were the humiliating incidents reported....specifically linked to specific anxiety attacks or other problems requiring treatment by her providers?; -Dr. Keroack's opinion Dr Rudman's opinion and medical notes - MGH establish the causal connection sought; Ques.4 : were there such links or would the nature of Ms. James diagnosed condition not result in specific episodes requiring immediate treatment-this question is incomprehensible and may be based on a misunderstanding of PTSD

10-29-03 Analyzed 6th paragraph: this question is a direct affront to the medical panel's conclusion: "There are no other likely causative factors apparent in Ms. James clinical history to substantiate an alternate etiology for the anxiety disorder examined the premise of the 6th paragraph: without evidence or the opinion of an employer's physician, the paragraph implies that "marital discord, marital infidelity, childhood abuse or neglect, financial problems or other private factors" are the causation of client's disability; examined medical panel narrative and 840 CMR 10.11(4) to determine that employer's physician was available but not used by RRB.

10-29-03 Analyzed final paragraph and attempted to identify the disability issue on which clarification is sought; the disability found by the medical panel complies with the requirements of MGLc. 32 and 840 CMR 10.00; the questions posed by the RRB focusses on matters outside the scope of the statute, regulations and the decision of the medical panel; examined MGLc 32 Sec 16 and 840 CMR 10.04(1) for scope of disability required.
